Speed, Innovation, and the Total Solution

No one takes you from packaging concept to new-products-on-the-shelf faster than Portola. With the design centers around the world, our engineers work around-the-clock. We take you from concept to models in days, production quality prototypes in weeks, and a finished product faster than ever before.

Portola has twelve plants worldwide and three global R&D centers. We hold hundreds of patents. In addition, we understand the fit and seal between closure and container better than anyone--because we make bottles and bottle tooling, as well.

Take advantage of our integrated solutions: closures, parts supply management, design services, bottle finish and closure engineering, bottle blow molding equipment, tooling, and technical support. Let us design a new package to delight your consumers and boost your sales.

We do it fast—and we do it best!
